

Dave Sardon is a forward-facing CEO, leading Canada's food & agri-tech engine. Under his guidance, Bioenterprise is navigating the shifting Canadian landscape of food, agriculture, and clean technologies delivering deep impact through high-growth scaling projects. Dave's corporate background includes Apple Computer Inc., Texas Instruments, angel investment and his own entrepreneurial pursuits. Dave believes in the potential of agri-tech to adopt emerging technologies, and that the Canadian ecosystem can work together towards global leadership.