

Stewart Cressman
Chair, Swine Innovation Porc

Stewart is a pork and beef producer on a fourth-generation family farm near Kitchener, Ontario. His commitment and enthusiasm for the Canadian swine industry is demonstrated through his work as a producer and through his leadership and involvement in many pork-related organizations. He has been Chair of Swine Innovation Porc since 2013, a national organization that facilitates research and development for the pork industry. He is also currently a member of Livestock Gentec's Management Advisory Board. From 2005 to 2018, he was Chair of the Agricultural Institute of Ontario, and has also previously served on Ontario Pork's board of directors, the Canadian Swine Health Board and was appointed as public interest representative to the College of Veterinarians of Ontario. Stewart holds an undergraduate degree in Animal Science and a master's degree in Animal Nutrition from the University of Guelph.
