

Mazen Chouaib is the President and CEO of Canadian Leaders in International Consulting Inc. (CLIC), recognized for his leadership and entrepreneurial approach to managing projects globally. Mazen has deep expertise in implementing and evaluating projects that are focused on agriculture, supply and value chains, innovation in agribusiness, governance and social economic development across the Middle East and Africa. As the founder of CLIC, he has driven innovative initiatives enhancing food security, rural livelihoods, and local economies. Since 2007 Mazen raised millions of dollars for the implementation of projects, from the Government of Canada, the German Government, Government of the Netherlands, the United Nations, the World Bank, Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, Government of Iraq and many other donors and funders.

He currently serves on the board of the Canadian Association of International Development Professionals (CAIDP). Previously, Mazen led national initiatives and advocacy in Canada, actively pursuing public policy initiatives in close collaboration with the Government of Canada and the Canadian Parliament. Mazen speaks English, French, and Arabic. He has a Masters in Public Administration, he has worked in over 30 countries.

